DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support in the original specification for the following amended claim language: "wherein the sensor generates" (claim 1, line 10), "in communication with the identification means (claim 1, lines 13-14), "wherein the learning means stores data" (claim 1, line 19), "corresponding to" (claim 1, line 22), etc. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by DE 199 48 366 A1. The DE 199 48 366 A1 reference discloses a dispensing device for drinks or similar dosable liquid foodstuffs including an identification means (3-6). Thus, the structural features of the instantly rejected claims are structurally met by the reference. While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function. In re Schreiber, 128 F.3d 1473, 1477-78, 44 USPQ2d 1429, 1431-32 (Fed. Cir. 1997) see also In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 210, 212-13, 169 USPQ 226, 228-29 (CCPA 1971); In re Danly, 263 F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959). "Apparatus claims cover what a device is, not what a device does." Hewlett-Packard Co. v. Bausch & Lomb Inc., 909 F.2d 1464, 1469, 15 USPQ2d 1525, 1528 (Fed. Cir. 1990). A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1987).

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by WO 2004/023949. The WO 2004/023949 reference also discloses a dispensing device for drinks or similar dosable liquid foodstuffs including an identification means (10). Thus, the structural features of the instantly rejected claims are structurally met by the reference. While features of an apparatus may be recited either structurally or functionally, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Helbing (US 5,158,793) in view of DE 199 48 366 A1 or WO 2004/023949. The patent to Helbling discloses the claimed invention except for the identification means, specific programmable memory and learning means. The DE 199 48 366 A1 or WO 2004/023949 references both teach or suggest the use of an identification means along with a programmable memory in which at least one of amount signals and choice signals corresponding to the identification signal are stored and a learning means with a dispensing control for dispensing a foodstuff into a container and for storing in the memory data. Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided the dispensing device of Helbling with an identification means in the manner suggested by either one of the DE 199 48 366 A1 or WO 2004/023949 reference along with a programmable memory in which at least one of amount signals and choice signals corresponding to the identification signal are stored and a learning means with a dispensing control for dispensing a foodstuff into a container and for storing in the memory data in order to relate to at least one of the amount and state of filling in dependence on the identification signal where the learning means provides for entering into the device specification data for a specific foodstuff depending on the identification signal, if so desired.

Response to Arguments
